Making The Dream Of Homeownership A Reality In Silicon Valley

In Silicon Valley’s high-priced housing market, it is harder than ever for low- to moderate-income residents to buy a home. Housing Trust offers assistance to these first-time homebuyers purchasing in Santa Clara County, as well as education to promote sustainable homeownership.

Creating Rental Housing for The Valley’s Most Vulnerable Residents

Nearly 17,000 new rental homes will be needed over the next nine years to meet Santa Clara County’s affordable housing needs. Housing Trust’s Affordable Housing Growth Fund provides financing to create new homes for extremely low- to low-income families, seniors, and people with special needs.

over 4,025 affordable homes created since 2002

- The Affordable Housing Growth Fund (AHGF) launched in May 2013 with nearly $9 million from the Housing Trust and its partners (Bridge Bank, East West Bank, First Bank, Heritage Bank of Commerce, Manufacturers Bank, One Pacific Coast Bank, Silicon Valley Bank, and Technology Credit Union).

- Over the next five years, the Housing Trust plans to invest $24 million to create and preserve an additional 1,800 permanent units through the AHGF.

Neighborhood Stabilization and Foreclosure Prevention

Since 2009 Housing Trust has led multiple consortium efforts to stabilize neighborhoods and help homeowners avoid foreclosure in some of the San Jose areas hardest hit by the economic and foreclosure crisis. Together with our community partners, Housing Trust works to keep San Jose residents in their homes, and in the community they love.

- Housing Trust Silicon Valley, as the lead entity in the San Jose Consortium, was awarded $25,000,000 in NSP2 funds to target areas across 35 census tracts that have been the hardest hit by foreclosures within San Jose.
- With these funds, Housing Trust has assisted 149 households and has 94 new units of affordable housing now under construction, with more in the planning stages.
- Housing Trust's foreclosure assistance program, ForeclosureHelpSCC, provides information and referral services to assist families impacted by foreclosure. To date, this program has assisted 312 households.
